A Free Training on Consent and Body Safety

Whether you are a parent, caregiver or ally of a toddler up to a teenager, having brave and honest conversations with those you care about is a critical step in preventing sexual violence.

Join us May 3 at 7 p.m. as therapist Kaitlyn Armstrong shares information and skills that will empower you on the topic of consent and body safety.

Learn how to empower and teach children about personal body safety, feelings, safe and unsafe touch, private parts, secrets and surprises, consent, and respectful relationships.
